Joining Forces 2011

Greenland Conference on Minerals & Oil

Joining Forces 2011: Greenland conference on Minerals and Oil will take place September 21st- 22nd 2011 in Nuuk, Greenland. Focus will be on the potentials for new assignments for Greenlandic companies and workforce. The conference will highlight some of the key issues not mentioned at earlier conferences on this topic, as the aim of Joining Forces is to get from step 1: "how does the new businesses operate" to Step 2 "looking for new insights and methods of development."

Joining Forces 2011: Greenland conference on Minerals and Oil is a two-day conference – one day focusing on Minerals and one day focusing on Oil. Presentations will be made by a wide range of professionals with experiences from the mining and oil industry in Greenland, Norway, Newfoundland, Faroe Islands and Denmark.

Participating at Joining Forces 2011: Greenland conference on Minerals and Oil will give opportunity of planning up to 18 individual B2B meetings with companies attending the conference.

Participating at Joining Forces 2011: Greenland conference on Minerals and Oil includes an evening event with presentation of understanding networking culture and handling international branding of Greenlandic companies within the international Mining and Oil industry.

Participating at Joining Forces 2011: Greenland conference on Minerals and Oil will provide new inspiration and highlight ways of getting prepared for the future to come.
